PACKAGED ARROWHEADS

ARROWHEADS
Native American hunters relied on arrowheads to obtain the necessities of everyday life. When shot skillfully from a bow, an arrowhead would fell animals such as deer, rabbits, and caribou. A successful hunt provided meat for food and hides for clothing and shelter. Arrowheads also gave protection from attacks by hostile animals.

Packaged arrowheads come bagged with a card shown at left. Other styles can be packaged in quantity for a fee if desired.

Bullet earrings cannot be worn on board an airplane or taken in a carry-on bag. They generally can be packed in checked luggage, but it is best to notify the airline personnel at check in. For international trips, expect questions upon arrival for checked baggage.

A friend in China gave me an ink pen designed to look like 60-caliber machine-gun bullet. I packed this in my checked luggage and was met by police at the baggage carousel in Seoul, Korea when I landed. My luggage had been tagged with a beeping lock. Fortunately, they all laughed when I proved that it was just an ink pen and I was sent on my way. The gift ended up in the garbage when I got to the hotel as I had other airports to go through on the way back to Toronto and didn't need more trouble.
