DINOSAUR CLAW PENDANT NECKLACES

We are pleased to offer our line of reproduction dinosaur claw pendants on a 32" black linen cord. These high-quality injection-molded replicas have been cast from real specimens and hand painted. They have proven to be a high-volume item, as evidenced by sales of over 7,000 units in one museum gift shop in a single season. This line is carried by major dinosaur museums throughout the United States and Canada. The pendants hang on a descriptive four-color card as shown.

2150-4 Fossil Shark Products

WHY SELL SHARK PRODUCTS?

Sharks around the world are under threat, primarily from finning for Chinese shark-fin soup. There are more than 70 million sharks killed per year for this market. The fishermen cut off the fin and throw the shark back in the water to die. We strongly object to this wanton waste of any species and encourage efforts to restrict this practice. Many of the shark products we sell come from sharks that were killed for other reasons: they are rarely killed for their teeth or jaws. The volume of shark products sold in the world for novelty, scientific, or curiosity reasons is trivial. I believe the interest in sharks far outweighs any damage done to the species by selling a handful of shark products.
