INTRODUCTION

Welcome to Chichester

When I moved from St. Louis to Toronto in 1987, I began buying Native American art to give to my brother Tom each Christmas. Because of his profound appreciation of these gifts, I began to pay more attention to Native art in Canada.

On a vacation to Montreal one year, I discovered Attikamek birchbark rognans for sale in a boutique. I was fascinated by these etched bark baskets that were tied together with spruce roots and had a smoked moosehide strap. I bought one for Tom. Little did I know then that it would change the course of my life.

A few years later, I mentioned to Tom that I was searching for a hobby business to start on the side, but couldn't decide what to do. He immediately told me that I needed to poke around the reservations in Canada and buy Native American arts and crafts to sell in the U.S. If I did the sourcing, he would do the selling. He compiled a list of items for me to look for literally on the back of an envelope. When I got back to Canada, I bought a box of arts and crafts worth a thousand dollars—and Tom and I started selling.

In the early years, I took Native arts and crafts with me to sell in the mid-west to pay for my visits back to see family and friends in the U.S. In mid-1994, I left my job with an economics consultancy in Toronto to start a company called American Vietnam Trading to take advantage of the ending of the U.S. trade embargo against Vietnam. I worked closely with a colleague in New York City and took Native art with me each month when I went to meetings in Manhattan. After our meetings, I hopped a cab to Greenwich Village and peddled Native American crafts to help pay my $1,000 per month phone bills. After six months, it was clear that the Vietnamese consulting business was extremely interesting, but not very lucrative. I either needed to get another job or try exporting Native arts and crafts full time.

In January 1995, I dropped the Vietnamese gig and went full time selling Native arts and crafts. I spent my time poking around reservations in Canada looking for interesting items to pack in my car to take to galleries, museums, and trading posts in the eastern United States. This was a very hard way to make money, but at least it gave me a chance to work on my own. And boy did I work... and work... and work....

Since then, Chichester has grown into a mail-order business with offices in both Toronto, Ontario and Antwerp, New York. Our product line quickly expanded into trading post gifts, furs, craft supplies, and whatever else caught my eye. The line continues to widen and deepen over time, and we now import from more than 45 countries.

Our goal, however, remains the same: we want to offer products not readily found elsewhere to serve the needs of museums, galleries, trading posts, catalog retailers, individuals, artists, collectors, and manufacturers around the world.

Everything in this catalog that is made by Native American Indians is identified with the symbol ✦ in the picture. Everything that has been assembled by Native American Indians from substantially non-Native materials is identified by the symbol ⊙.

We buy directly from many Native Americans as well as from reputable Native co-ops and non-Native dealers in the U.S. and Canada. We value the efforts of the Native American artists and craftspeople we deal with and support and comply with the Indian Arts and Crafts Act of 1990, the Indian Arts and Crafts Enforcement Act of 2000, and the Indian Arts and Crafts Amendments Act of 2009.

Most Native American merchandise is located in the ethnic arts and crafts section. The rest of the catalog generally contains non-Native merchandise (i.e., items not made by Native American Indians) but may have Native-made items. Native items are identified by the symbols ✦ or ⊙.

In addition to the merchandise in this catalog, we offer many other items on our websites. The web is ideal for items that are unique and impossible to catalog or for merchandise that is available only in limited quantities. We also list closeouts and specials on the web. Visit our websites at www.NaturalExotics.com (full e-commerce website with wholesale password), www.chichesterinc.com (massive legacy website), and www.chichestercanada.com to see what else is available in our Canadian company.

If you have any questions about our products, please do not hesitate to call us at 1.800.206.6544 or send an e-mail to info@chichesterinc.com

On behalf of our staff, Native American friends, and many suppliers around the world, thank you for giving us an opportunity to serve you.

Sincerely,

Paul E. Crosby

DENE BIRCHBARK BOXES

These birchbark boxes are handmade by the Slave Tribe in Fort Liard in the Northwest Territories. They are bound together with spruce roots on the lids and artificial sinew on the bottom, and are decorated with dyed porcupine quills on the lid only. They are tied with moose hide leather laces that may or may not be smoked.

The boxes may vary in size but they average about 2.5" high by 2.5" to 2.75" wide at the base, with a lid that measures between 2.75" to 3" wide. Lid decorations vary. Supplies are limited. (Porcupine Quills: Erethizon dorsatum; Birchbark: Betula papyrifera; Moose Laces: Alces alces)

OJIBWA BIRCHBARK CANOES

The canoes are trimmed with sweetgrass and most of the larger sizes are also trimmed with porcupine quills. Most of the smaller sizes do not have porcupine quills. They are handmade so sizes given below are approximate and designs can vary depending on the artist. They are great for rustic or cottage décor and the smaller sizes also work well as Christmas ornaments if you attach thread or sinew. (Porcupine Quills: Erethizon dorsatum; Birchbark: Betula papyrifera; Sweetgrass: Hierochloe odorata).

1010-2 Sage, Sweetgrass, & Sumac Owls

483-01

483-02

Sage comes in many varieties and is still used today in ceremonies, medicine, and cleansing.

It is burned in smudging ceremonies to ward off evil spirits, and to eliminate negative feelings and influences.

In Plains nations, sage is spread on the floor of the sweatlodge and participants rub the leaves onto their bodies to purify and protect themselves.

Sundancers wear wreaths made of sage to symbolize that their minds and hearts are close to the Great Spirit.

NATIVE AMERICAN SWEETGRASS

63-02-30

63-03-2434

Indian sweetgrass is a rare grass which is found growing wild in very few places. It has a sweet fragrance of its own that stays with the grass forever.

When burned or dampened, the sweet scent of the grass is released into the air. Burning sweetgrass purifies the air, the mind, and one's thoughts.

When smoked in peace pipes, it is said to bring good luck and health. Prayers said into the sweetgrass smoke rise toward the clouds and are scattered by the winds into the heavens and the Great Spirit.

IROQUOIS TALKING STICKS

420-AS

The Iroquois talking sticks measure approximately two feet long and come with the card shown. Materials used include: deer antler, deerskin, feathers, glass beads, trade cloth, and rabbit fur. Each piece is unique. Made by Ramon Mitten (Six Nations, Seneca band 1503), an Iroquois artist in upstate New York. (Deer: Odocoileus virginianus; Rabbit: Oryctolagus cuniculus).

Native Made in the USA

IROQUOIS TALKING STICK

The Talking Stick has been used by many different tribes in order to give the speaker the power to talk freely and to have an attentive audience. Whoever held the talking stick could talk without interruption and whatever was said by the person holding the talking stick could not be repeated outside of the circle.

This talking stick was made with pride in the USA by Ramon Mitten, Seneca Band, Six Nations.

1240-1 Tagua Carvings from Ecuador

Tagua nuts are from the Tagua palm, also known as ivory or ivory-nut palm. Tagua nuts are often substituted for elephant ivory because of their resemblance to elephant ivory. Most Tagua nuts measure approximately 2½" by 1½". There are no problems with USDA or USFWS importing or exporting these products. (Phytelephas aequatorialis).

TAGUA NUT CARVINGS

Tagua nuts are harvested in South America from the Tagua palm, also known as ivory palm or ivory-nut palm. This fair-trade, handmade collectibles are environmentally friendly and meant to be treasured. These are some of the finest quality Tagua carvings we have seen anywhere. (Phytelephas aequatorialis).

Indigenous Made in Ecuador

Please note: As these are hand carved items there will be slight variations from piece to piece. There will also be variation in the color and texture of the carvings. Just as the wood grain varies in trees, the composition of each tagua nut can present variations. For example, some pieces may have lines or marks due to the natural grain of the nut. When tagua nuts are heated, they will become a darker brown color and some will darken in some places more than others. Some tagua nuts are more cream-colored, whereas others are more white. The nuts have, and will also develop, a natural patina, which can be more pronounced in some than in others. This is the beauty of working with natural materials -- each piece is a little bit unique!

Indigenous Made in Ecuador

Tagua (pronounced TAH-gwa), also called ivory nut or vegetable ivory, is a small nut grown on a palm tree in the rainforests of South America. It is a renewable resource, unlike ivory. In a single year, a tagua palm tree can produce up to 20 pounds of nuts and continues to produce year after year. Your purchase helps protect elephants from the illegal ivory trade and foster a respect for the rainforests, which are disappearing at an alarming rate.

JIVARO SHRUNKEN HEADS

1134-xxx

The Jivaro Indians of the Ecuadorian Amazon have a long history of making real shrunken human heads, known as Tsantsa. This practice has been put to an end (or so it's claimed) and only reproduction shrunken heads are now available. Modern replicas are made using goat or llama leather that is shaped into the image of a face and trimmed with goat or llama hair. The ones made of goat leather and hair have thinner skin and thicker, coarser hair. The ones made of llama leather and hair have thicker skin and softer hair. The llama hair is similar to sheepskin in feel. Each piece is unique. Supplies vary over the course of the year.

No exports to France or Italy because of local import restrictions. No exports to Canada due to CFIA restrictions. No other known export restrictions. (Goat: Capra hircus, ranch Llama: Lama glama, ranch).

GUATEMALAN WORRY DOLLS

The Guatemalan worry dolls come in a wide variety of sizes, colors, and styles. The dolls are dressed in traditional Mayan style in colorful textiles. We will send you an assortment of colors. The boxes and bags of worry dolls also contain a short message about the legend.

The worry dolls help sooth anxious children. If worries are keeping them up at night, they can tell their worries to the dolls and hide them under their pillow before going to sleep at night. By morning, the dolls have taken their worries away. The dolls have been used in hospitals to treat sick children so they can sleep better at night. Parents, educators, and psychologists also use the dolls as a listening or communication tool with children.

ARROWHEADS

Native American hunters relied on arrowheads to obtain the necessities of everyday life. When shot skillfully from a bow, an arrowhead would fell animals such as deer, rabbits, and caribou. A successful hunt provided meat for food and hides for clothing and shelter. Arrowheads also gave protection from attacks by hostile animals.

Make a statement with these handcrafted earrings made from real brass or nickel bullets. They use hypoallergenic surgical steel hoops that are suitable for sensitive skin.

Bullet earrings cannot be worn on board an airplane or taken in a carry-on bag. They generally can be packed in checked luggage, but it is best to notify the airline personnel at check in. For international trips, expect questions upon arrival for checked baggage.

A friend in China gave me an ink pen designed to look like 60-caliber machine-gun bullet. I packed this in my checked luggage and was met by police at the baggage carousel in Seoul, Korea when I landed. My luggage had been tagged with a beeping lock. Fortunately, they all laughed when I proved that it was just an ink pen and I was sent on my way. The gift ended up in the garbage when I got to the hotel as I had other airports to go through on the way back to Toronto and didn't need more trouble.

THE SMUDGING CEREMONY

Native people use herbs in a sacred manner to be helped into the sacred realm. In North America, the smudging ceremony involves burning sage, cedar, and sweetgrass to create smoke, which is taken into the hands and rubbed over the body for protection, cleansing, and to evoke positive influences...

SAGE - is burned in smudging ceremonies to drive out ill feelings or influences, protecting the place of ceremony.

CEDAR - is burned for the purpose of cleansing while praying aloud or silently. The prayers rise on the cedar smoke on their way to the creator.

SWEETGRASS - is one of the most sacred plants to the Indians. It is frequently burned after either sage or cedar to bring in positive influences and energies.

2150-4 Fossil Shark Products

WHY SELL SHARK PRODUCTS?

Sharks around the world are under threat, primarily from finning for Chinese shark-fin soup. There are more than 70 million sharks killed per year for this market. The fishermen cut off the fin and throw the shark back in the water to die. We strongly object to this wanton waste of any species and encourage efforts to restrict this practice. Many of the shark products we sell come from sharks that were killed for other reasons: they are rarely killed for their teeth or jaws. The volume of shark products sold in the world for novelty, scientific, or curiosity reasons is trivial. I believe the interest in sharks far outweighs any damage done to the species by selling a handful of shark products.

2150-10 Alligator Products

Alligators are subject to CITES controls to ensure that they survive in the wild. The items we offer are from alligator farms in the U.S. where the animals are raised for meat or have been harvested in the wild under predator-control permits. The alligators were not killed just for their claws, teeth, skulls, etc. The skulls, claws, teeth, and feet have been professionally cleaned and preserved. Subject to CITES. Not available for export due to the inability to trace each tooth or item to the specific alligator permit. (Alligator mississippiensis, wild).

3005-1 Brain-Tanned Leather

We offer a selection of brain-tanned leather in moose, elk, and deer. The prices vary depending on the quality of the skin, thickness, color, and suppleness. Moose and elk are excellent for moccasins, gauntlets, and other projects requiring a heavier hide. Deer is used for moccasins, bags, and gloves. Each skin is different and is cataloged as a unique piece. Our selection varies over time, so please see our website at www.chichesterinc.com or call us for more information on what is available. We try to offer a range of sizes, but do not cut the hides to measure.

SMOKED ELK LEATHER

DISTRESSED GOAT LEATHER

These goat leather hides are of good quality. The full-grain leather hides are neither sanded nor buffed, while the pull-up leather hides underwent buffing to achieve their distressed look.

Distressed leather are treated to look aged or worn out without losing its overall integrity. (Capra hircus, ranch).

Product of USA

Pull-up leather are treated to have a natural appearance which lightens in color when stretched during wear to produce a unique worn-in effect with time. This kind of aniline leather is deeply impregnated with oils and waxes, so when the leather is bent or pulled, the oils move around within the skin, causing lighter tones and interesting colors to become visible.

WOODLAND PIG LEATHER

Our full-grain woodland pig leather hides are of good quality, and has color variation and natural marks characteristic of distressed leather, treated to look aged or worn out without losing its overall integrity. It will darken with use and develop a rich patina over time. They are approximately 2 to 4 oz.

We also have scrap leather sold by the pound. (Sus scrofa, ranch).

SHEEP LEATHER

Product of Canada, Egypt, or the USA

We have erratic supplies of craft grade sheepskin leather that range in size from 7 to 10 square feet. This looks like deer and is ideal for small crafts. It has a slightly spongy feel to it. Many craftspeople like it because it is easier to push a needle through than deer. Expect some holes or flaws. (Ovis aries, ranch).

GLAZED CARP LEATHER

These are dyed crucian carp skins. The tanned carp skins have a glazed finish and are soft and pliable. They have a distinctive fish scale pattern, which makes them look unique from other leathers. The skins measured down the middle are approximately 16 to 21 inches long by 3½ to 4½ inches wide. Glazing adds a protectant to the outside surface of the leather. The glazed leather surface will be water-resistant and protect against dirt, grease, and excessive wear. (Carassius carassius, ranch).

The white Icelandic sheepskin pieces are available in different sizes. They can be used to make Santa beards, troll hair, dance leggings, craft items, etc.

The white skins are "creamy white." The natural color of the skins often has a yellowish hue to the color. As the skins have not been bleached, they often have varying degrees of "creaminess." The hair length is approximately 4" to 6" with the shortest hair along the spine. The hair does not go in one direction like a dog or cat's fur, but rather it falls in every direction. This is not a hollow hair, so it doesn't break or shed.

Our Icelandic sheepskins are Eco-tanned without the use of heavy metals. The exact formulation is a trade-secret but the tanning meets European Union regulations for an environmentally friendly tanning process. (Ovis aries, ranch).

COW RAWHIDE LACING

567-xxx close up

Full-grain cow rawhide laces have better water resistance than split laces and are ideal for use in stringing snowshoes, canoe seats, etc. Each bundle is not made up of one continuous piece. The bundles are made up of continuous lacing that are a minimum of 12 feet long. The width of the lacing is the wet cut dimensions and it shrinks substantially when the lacing dries. There is also some variation in width and thickness within each bundle as the lacing is cut by hand pulling the wet hides through a slicer. (Bos taurus, ranch).

ANTIQUED HEMP CORDS

The 1 mm antiqued hemp cords are available in rolls of various colors. "Antiqued hemp" is variegated in color, not solid, and is meant to look aged. The texture of the string is rough like raw hemp is. Hemp is Nature's craft cord. The unique coloring of these cords will create an antique look to any project. Great for necklaces, bracelets, macramé, bead stringing, dreamcatchers, and much more.

3040-1 Rawhide-Hides

WHAT IS RAWHIDE?

Rawhide is a hide or animal skin that has not been exposed to tanning. It is similar to parchment, much lighter in color than leather made by traditional vegetable tanning.

The skin from buffalo, deer, elk or cattle from which most rawhide originates is prepared by removing all fur, meat and fat. The hide is then usually stretched over a frame before being dried. The resulting material is hard and translucent. It can be shaped by rewetting and forming before being allowed to thoroughly re-dry. It can be rendered more pliable by 'working', i.e. bending repeatedly in multiple directions, often by rubbing it over a post, sometimes traditionally by chewing. It may also be oiled or greased for a degree of waterproofing.

RED DEER RAWHIDE

These first-grade rawhides come from ranch-raised red deer so they are clean and free of bullet holes. They average 18-20 sq. ft. One hide is measured to be 64¼" long, 45" wide at the top, 42½" wide at the middle, and 52" wide at the bottom. (Cervus elaphus, ranch).

DEER RAWHIDE

Rawhide is stiff. When it is wetted, it can be worked. Beware of wetting any hide too long or it may fall apart. Hides are not guaranteed once worked.

White tail deer rawhide is ideal for making drums, rattles, and other crafts.

Our bleached Select-grade hide is prepared in a light parchment color using a hydrogen peroxide treatment. You should be able to cut two 18-inch drum circles out of the hide. The hides are approximately 45" to 50" long by 25" to 30" wide (across the middle). They are 0.75 mm to 1 mm thick. Sizes and thicknesses will vary. The thinner ones usually tend to be smaller.

Our natural rawhide is unbleached and has a darker brown tint. Its sound and strength is the same as the bleached, and it is more malleable than the bleached rawhide when wet. The Select natural grade have no holes in the center of the hide. There may be holes on the sides or top, but this do not interfere with cutting out a nice drum circle. The #1 to #4 hides are sorted based on the number and size of holes. See our website at www.chichesterinc.com for color pictures as well as sample measurements of hides measured at random. (Odocoileus virginianus, wild).

HORSE RAWHIDE

Product of Colombia

The fibers on horse rawhide are tighter and smoother than on cow rawhide. Even though horse rawhide tends to be lighter than cow rawhide, the horse rawhide is stronger. The hides are 2- to 4-ounce weight and may have butcher cuts on one side. They average 24 and 30 square feet. The rawhide measures approximately 62" to 72" long down the middle, 30" wide across the neck, 62" wide across the middle, and 69" wide across the bottom. We measured one horse rawhide to be 69" long, 33" wide at the neck, 50" wide across the middle and 57" wide at the bottom. (Equus caballus, ranch).

REINDEER RAWHIDE

55-80L

We offer very clean, high-quality reindeer rawhide. Average lengths as well as width across the shoulders, width across the middle, and width across the bottom are shown in the pricing table. Sizes may vary slightly from skin to skin. The skins are approximately 1/16" thick for all sizes. They are ideal for making Shaman drums. We offer shaman drum frames from Finland elsewhere in this catalog. This rawhide is very thin compared with elk rawhide. We also offer dyed reindeer rawhide in blue and brown. STINGRAY RAWHIDE

55-100-G01

The cowtail stingray rawhide is professionally prepared in Thailand. The hide is very stiff and feels like sandpaper. A bag of shell in the picture holding part of the hide flat. Stingray rawhide is frequently used for making Japanese sword handles. Each piece is unique and available in our gallery on the website. Cowtail stingrays are not endangered. (Pastinachus sephen, wild).

COW RAWHIDE DRUM COVERS

These pre-cut rawhide discs are ideal for making drums. The thickness used produces the best sound for the size. May have smooth or rough edges. Soak the rawhide for 4 to 12 hours depending upon thickness and oiliness of the skins. The thicker and more oily the hide, the longer it should be soaked. Soaking the skins for longer than 12 hours can result in a degradation of the skins. (Bos taurus, ranch).

3060-6 Bone Beads

PREMIUM-QUALITY BONE HAIRPIPE

Consistent in length and thickness with very few pieces having edge damage, our line of premium quality hairpipe is ideally suited to craftspeople with discriminating tastes. The Regular bone hairpipe have large holes that make this hairpipe very easy to work with. The Ultra Thin bone hairpipe is about 60% to 70% the thickness of the regular bone hairpipe. It is ideal for use in making bracelets and chokers with a more delicate look. The thickness of the Slim bone hairpipe falls somewhere in between the regular and ultra thin hairpipe. (Bubalus bubalis, ranch).

METAL CONES

293-10-xxx

293-20-xxx

293-30-xxx

The tin cones are a great trim item and produce a musical tinkling sound. On items that are likely to get wet, such as moccasins, we suggest using aluminum cones, which, although they don't sound as nice, are more practical to avoid rust. The select tin cones have a very shiny finish. The golden finish cones are made from aluminum.

3080-1 Antler Buttons

CROSS-CUT 2-HOLE CARIBOU ANTLER BUTTONS

These buttons are made from antler harvested in Alaska. They are called cross-cut because they are cut in slices perpendicular to the length of the antler. The size ranges are approximate. We measure along the line running through both holes. We also offer assorted sizes by the pound. Each pound has 200 to 400 buttons depending upon mix of sizes. We do not sort the poundage buttons. They come in random sizes and may be bought in 1/4 pound increments. (C. Rangifer tarandus).

3100-1 Drum Frames

TOM TOM FRAMES

Made in Pakistan

These 1/4" thick wooden tom tom frames are made from a wood similar to cedar. You can make your own tom toms using these frames and the Cow Rawhide Drum Covers shown in this catalog.

Please Note: We have had a couple of complaints from drum-makers about the frames releasing at the joints. The problem is caused by keeping the frame too wet for too long. We will replace frames that don't look right when you receive them, but once drum-makers start using them, we have no control over what they are doing to them and there is no guarantee after that.

Our soapstone pipe bowls are carved by Ramon Mitten (Six Nations, Seneca band 1503), an Iroquois artist in upstate New York, and can be used with wood pipe stems shown above to make your own pipes. Please note that because they are hand-carved, there are slight variations in size. The pipe bowls and pipe stems are craft items—not ready-to-sell pipes. You may need to adjust the pipe bowl or stem to make the two fit perfectly. Stocks vary. The Lady Pipe Bowl is available with a hole (468-4H) to permit hanging of feathers or other decorations.

The twine comes in spools made using 100% pure cotton grown in Zimbabwe in southern Africa. The polycotton spool is made using a blend of polyester and cotton. The center-pull spool allows you pull twine from the center rather than from the outside. The polished twine has a smooth finish. The total spool length is 4" and the total cone length is 6". The total weight includes the cardboard spool. Tex is a unit of measure for the linear mass density of fibers, yarns and thread and is defined as the mass in grams per 1,000 meters.

Made in Zimbabwe

Tex is a unit of measure for the linear mass density of fibers, yarns and thread and is defined as the mass in grams per 1,000 meters.

Example 1:

11 x 200 tex means there are eleven strands of yarn that weigh 200 grams per 1,000 meters.

Example 2:

3 x 12 x 100 tex means there are three threads twisted together, with each thread consisting of twelve strands of yarn that weigh 100 grams per 1,000 meters.

FUR KNIVES AND REPLACEMENT BLADES

The fur knife was designed especially for use by furriers in working with fine furs, such as mink, coyote, sable, and fox. The blade is incredibly sharp and cuts through fur like it is going through butter. The knife can also be used on lightweight leathers, hides, and for other craft projects.

We ship these around the world and are one of the only firms left stocking this wonderful knife.

We have a video on Youtube showing how to use the fur knife. When using the knife, cut from the hide side without the hair pressed against anything. You will slice just the skin with minimal loose hair flying around.

Handle with care.

The fur knife comes with two blades. Each blade is precut into two triangular blades so you will get a total of 4 triangular blades.

The fur knife does not come with a blade inserted. You can open the cover to insert a triangular blade.

We recommend ordering extra blades when buying knives to save on shipping costs and to ensure blades are on hand. The blades can break when cutting heavy leather or if twisted while in use. They are 0.2 mm thick.

Made in Pakistan

The Aeterna blades from Sweden are already cut into two triangular blades for easy use in the fur knife. These blades are much safer than the German blades that are scored and must be snapped into two pieces.

The blade is designed to fit into our fur knife perfectly.

5010-1 Rabbit Skins—Grading Notes

We import from ten tanneries in six countries and offer more than a dozen different grades of skins to meet the various requirements of our customers. Except where indicated in the grade, we grade all skins in the U.S. to make sure that what we offer meets our grade. As far as we know, we are the only company offering this sort of grading anywhere. This page deals with our basic skins. See grading notes on other categories for more information.

The grades below start at the lowest grade and go up to the highest grade. The best sellers by volume are the trading post grade, craft grade, and gift shop grade. If all of this seems overwhelming, just give us a call and we'll help you find the right skins for your needs.

The Reject Grade rabbit skins should probably go in the garbage, but someone somewhere always seems to want these. We sort these into white and mixed natural colors. We do not do any other sorting. They often have sawdust balls (not poop) or thorns in the skins, matting, extensive hair slips, extensive tears, or some other problem, such as a stiff back or heavy stains. If you have never bought rabbit skins from us before, please do not order these—you may like the price, but I doubt you will be happy with what you get. If you return them, you pay shipping and insurance both ways. We try not to stock these but get small quantities in each shipment. They are not suitable for selling at trading posts or for making most craft projects.

The Scrappy Grade rabbit skins are very low quality skins. They are sorted into white and mixed natural colors. We do not do any other sorting. They are half or partial skins from very small rabbits. They tend to have rips and tears, holes, bald spots, and are not polished on the back. The hair quality is lousy, either flat or semi-matted. They look ratty. They are perfect for crafts where only a small piece of fur is required. Product of Egypt.

The Poubelle Grade rabbit skins may be low quality skins. They are sorted into white and mixed natural colors. We do not do any other sorting. They are small skins or torn skins. The hair quality is lousy, either flat or semi-matted. They look ratty. We sell every skin we get and have trouble keeping supplies in stock. They are perfect for trading posts or uses where only a piece of fur is required. If you want something nice, don't buy "junk." Maybe they will work for you, maybe not. If you return these, return the entire lot if you want to buy rabbits from us again. We do not allow any upgrading or picking. We have had very few returns for this item. A few customers will not re-order the cheap skins, but most happily join a wait list. Egypt.

The Clipper Grade white or mixed natural color rabbits have acceptable hair quality and are NOT matted, but may have serious cosmetic problems—generally extensive yellowing, bluish tint, other discoloration, or various size bald spots. They are ideal for testing dog hair and human hair clippers.

The Grade 5 are typically smaller than average, possibly misshapen, and sometimes have cosmetic defects. Most are bunny rabbit brown, bunny rabbit gray, and natural black. They are soft and supple. They are Spanish farmed rabbits tanned in Morocco. If you buy as an unsorted mix, expected about 10% rejects, 30% cut-ups, 30% trading post, and 30% craft grade. They are great value for the money for what they are.

Cut-Up Grade skins are lower-quality skins that have good fur, but have major cosmetic defects. For example, these skins can be small, misshapen, have extensive tears, holes or bald spots in the middle of the skin, or have patches of bad hair on them. They are unsuitable for resale as novelty skins, but are ideal for cutting up into smaller pieces for craft projects. We use this grade of skin to make many of our rabbit fur bags and for trim on crafts. These are good value for the money if you need good fur and can work around the problems.

The Trading Post skins are generally full skins with areas of weak or thin hair coverage or minor defects. They are suitable for selling to customers who just want a rabbit skin for whatever reason and do not know or care about the quality of the hair. They are also suitable for some craft projects, especially ones requiring small pieces. The white skins are chrome tanned and tend to have a bluish or yellowish cast to them. The sandy white are not what most people think of as one of the "mixed natural colors," and are not pure white. They look like white skins with sawdust sprinkled on them. The trading post grade skins are what is most commonly available in the market. They may work for you, but proceed with caution in the beginning. We offer these as an unsorted run only. If this grade is unsuitable for your purposes, all the skins must be returned for credit—not just what you want to grade out. These are Spanish grade 4 skins that we have seen being re-sold as a prime, grade A skins. We are fussier than others about grades.

The Craft Grade skins can be misshapen, smaller than normal, or have some other minor defects, such as small tears, lower quality fur, or minor bald spots on the side. They may be missing a quarter panel at times. These are generally okay for re-sale or for use in making crafts; they are just not perfect skins. This grade is one of our most popular. The Craft Low Grade may have a small hair slip (bald spot) or hole in the center of the skin.

The Gift Shop Grade skins are higher quality than the craft grade skins, but do not have the consistent hair length and quality found on the better grade skins. They have good presentation. These are sold in large quantities in museum gift shops and trading posts, as well as for use in craft projects.

The Better Grade skins are full-size skins suitable for sale in galleries, more discriminating gift shops and trading posts, or for craft projects that require very nice hair quality. These skins have a more consistent hair length and few, if any, imperfections.

The Garment Grade skins are full-size skins suitable for sale in galleries, more discriminating gift shops and trading posts, or for craft projects that require very nice hair quality. These skins have a more consistent hair length and few, if any, imperfections. They typically have 20% denser hair than the better grade skins and are the best quality that Spain has to offer. The Spanish Garment Grade skins are lighter weight skins ideally suited to the fashion industry. They are not heavy, female skins suited for bulky Eskimo parka trim or mukluk trim. Many of these skins go to the fashion trade in Spain, Italy, France, Germany, South Korea, China, and Taiwan. They are usually made into plates, but we have asked our associate to save small quantities for us for our customers who require very high quality skins for their work but do not want to buy whole plates. The bleached white skins are a brilliant white.

The Czech Female #1/2 Grade skins are the best rabbit skins we have seen anywhere in the world. They are typically 1.5 to 3 times the size of a regular rabbit and are hand sorted for quality. The man we buy these from grades each skin one by one. The quality shows. The backs of the skins are white and super soft. The hair is dense. We sell thousands into the Arctic for use on parkas and mitts. These are the best of the best anywhere.

The Czech Female #3 Grade skins are ideal for most craft projects that require smaller pieces of fur. There can be some matting, holes, or bald spots. They are perfect for making cat and dog toys.

(Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

The country of origin varies with each shipment and is indicated on the website.

We will do our best to help you choose the best grade for your needs.

These are skins from domesticated rabbits are a by-product of the food industry. The Spanish and Czech rabbits are ethically killed in European Union slaughterhouses that meet very strict regulations. The animals are not killed just for their hides. Domestic rabbits are not endangered. They were so common in Spain that the country derives its name from them. Spain means the country where rabbits are everywhere. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

We do not permit customers to high grade shipments and return what they do not like. We grade carefully and offer the skins as a run according to the grade. If you are not happy with the grade, please return all of the skins. If you want to keep just what you like, we will not be upset, but will never offer skins to you again. We have very few returns. Please do not hesitate to call us if you have questions about which grade to buy for a specific project. We will do our best to guide you to the right grade.

5010-3 Czech Female Rabbit Skins

CZECH HEAVY RABBIT SKINS

The #1/#2 skins are the nicest rabbit skins we have ever seen. Our supplier hand-picks each skin. He sorts tens of thousands of skins and only keeps the best 5% to 20% depending upon the run and time of the year. These are the best of the best. They are soft-tanned, big, and very heavily furred. They are ideal for resale or for craft projects requiring excellent material. The fur is denser and the skin is typically a bit heavier than on regular Spanish fryer rabbits. These are perfect for trim on parkas, mukluks, and gauntlets. They also make exceptionally nice massage mitts and lovely blankets.

Prices have not fallen as volumes to choose from have almost disappeared after the collapse of the Russian economy and invasion of Ukraine. This has become a very difficult grade to find in any quantity.

The #2/3 skins are perfect for craft projects requiring heavier fur, such as trim on parkas, mukluks, gauntlets, fur bags, and cat and dog toys. They are soft and supple with good hair. There are typically minor cosmetic problems such as a hole, tear, or hair slip (bald spot) somewhere on the skin. They are perfect for cutting up.

The #3 skins are good for craft projects requiring smaller pieces, such as cat and dog toys that need heavier fur or trim on other crafts. There is some cosmetic problem such as a hole, bald spot, matted area, or part of the skin is missing. They are good value for the money.

The #4 skins consist of various grades. Each lot will include different combinations of reject, cut-up, and trading post grade skins. Do not buy this grade if you want a specific quality of skin as this is a mix of grades. They come in varying sizes, and in Natural and White. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

5010-4 Heavy & Female Rabbit Skins

HEAVY LOW-GRADE RABBIT SKINS

Product of the Czech Republic

Tanned in Spain

The heavy low grade skins are large breeder rabbits with heavy fur. We buy these as lower grade skins and then sort accordingly. The A grade skins are generally whole skins without major imperfections. The B grade skins are more craft quality. The C grade skins are yellowed or have extensive problems. We have natural colors in grades A, B, and C. We have white in grade C at this time. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

SPANISH BREEDER RABBITS

The Spanish like to eat young, succulent rabbits. Consequently, many of the rabbits from Spain are smaller than the ones from central and eastern Europe. The Breeder rabbits, however, are about 50% to 100% bigger than regular rabbits from Spain and the hair tends to be heavier than that of the typical Spanish rabbit, but not as heavy as on rabbits from Hungary or the Czech Republic. The breeder rabbits are good value for the money and are nicely tanned. The #1/#2 rabbits are good quality skins with few, if any, imperfections. The #3 skins have minor problems (holes, rips, tears, or bald spots) and are ideal for craft projects. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

5010-5 Rex Rabbit & Hare Skins

NATURAL COLOR REX RABBIT SKINS

Rex rabbits are the “King” of the rabbit selection. The First Grade skins have the softest, silkiest, densest fur of our rabbit skins line. These top-of-the-line rabbit skins are soft-tanned, big, and very heavily furred. The feel of these luxurious pelts are these closest you can get to a sheared beaver skin, but at a fraction of the cost!

These rex rabbit skins average 12" to 16" long and 11" to 14" wide. The hair is about 0.75" long.

Our Grade AA skins are the biggest and the silkiest, while the rest is graded by size. Comparing grades from AA to C, the AA skins are the best in terms of size and softness. As you go down the scale, the skins get smaller.

The approximate sizes are follows:

Size AA: 186 sq. inches (1,200 sq. cm.) per skin

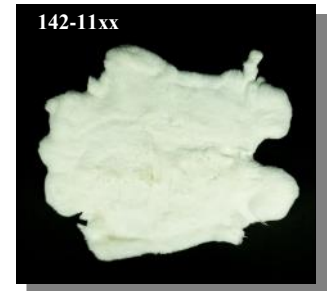

Size A: 155 sq. inches (1,000 sq. cm.) per skin

Size B: 139 sq. inches (900 sq. cm.) per skin

Size C: 124 sq. inches (800 sq. cm.) per skin

(Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

SNOWSHOE HARE SKINS

We get a limited number of tanned snowshoe hare skins each year. These are very nicely tanned in China. Snowshoe hare are different from domesticated rabbit: the skin is thinner and the hair is wilder with longer guard hairs. These hare are in the winter phase and tend to be whitish. A U.S. Fish & Wildlife permit is required for export.

Product of Siberia in Russia, Tanned in China

The uncased Arctic hare skins may have small nicks, holes, tears, or cuts on the hide side that typically cannot be seen from the hair side. These imperfections can be sewn up—we just don't have time for this. They are good for craft projects. (Lepus timidus, wild; Lepus americanus, wild).

The Spanish breeder rabbits are about 1.5 to 3 times the size of a regular rabbit and the hair tends to be heavier than that of the typical Spanish rabbit, but not as heavy as on rabbits from Hungary or the Czech Republic. (See grading notes on the previous page for more detail.)

DYED BETTER GRADE RABBIT SKINS

Shad Gray 134-137

Black 134-01B

These dyed rabbit skins are made using our Better Grade Rabbit Skins from Spain. With the exception of the black-dyed skins (which have been dyed in Spain), all of the skins have been dyed professionally in the U.S. using high-quality dyes. You will be impressed with the quality of the dye job, especially with the fluorescent skins--a difficult job to get right at the best of times. These skins have excellent fur quality and are soft and supple.

Please note that the dyed rabbits have a slight chemical odor as a result of being dyed. It is possible to air them out by hanging them up. See the website for a color chart. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

The skins dyed in Spain (see below) are comparable quality and much cheaper. The skins dyed in the USA offer hard-to-find colors.

DYED RABBIT SKINS

188-D-12

188-D-COLOR

These rabbit skins are dyed in Spain using a mix of first and second grade skins. For years we have called these craft grade skins because we originally bought a third grade skin. However, the tannery has only offered first and second grade dyed skins and we are dropping the "craft" name for these skins. They tend to be quite nice and are suitable for selling as a novelty item or for using in making items. Overall, they are great value for the money. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

DYED TRADING POST RABBIT SKINS

The Dyed Trading Post rabbit skins are suited for craft projects that can use weak hair coverage. The skins can be smaller and misshaped. This is the lowest grade skin we can dye, so do not expect a gorgeous, heavily haired rabbit. If you are cutting them into small pieces, they may work just fine. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

Product of Spain

The Dyed Electric Blue has a limited supply. The dye job is not consistent and there are more problems than normal within each skin. These skins are great for cutting up or selling as is. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

283-1-CZRD

283-1-CZBL

283-1-CZGR

283-1-CZOR

283-1-CZPK

The Dyed Czech Female rabbit skins are dyed using clear white #1/#2 skins. These are the nicest rabbit skins we have ever seen. Our supplier hand-picks each skin. He sorts tens of thousands of skins and only keeps the best 5% to 20% depending upon the run and time of the year. These are the best of the best. They are soft-tanned, big, and very heavily furred. They are ideal for resale or for craft projects requiring excellent material. The fur is denser and the skin is typically much heavier than on regular Spanish fryer rabbits. These are perfect for trim on parkas, mukluks, and gauntlets. They also make exceptionally nice massage mitts and lovely blankets. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

DYED GARMENT GRADE RABBIT SKINS

These skins are graded on their hair quality. The Spanish Garment grade skins are lighter weight skins ideally suited to the fashion industry. The graders are looking for skins with consistent hair length that are free of imperfections. They are not heavy, female skins suited for bulky Eskimo parka trim or mukluk trim. The quality is the best you will see from Spain. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

DYED REX RABBIT SKINS

These Dyed #1 rex rabbit skins are currently only available in Size B (139.5 square inches or 900 square cm per skin). Please note that some skins will be a bit smaller because the skins tend to shrink somewhat when dyed. You will be impressed with the quality of the dye job. These skins will not lose their color if they get wet. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

DYED CUT- UP GRADE RABBIT SKINS

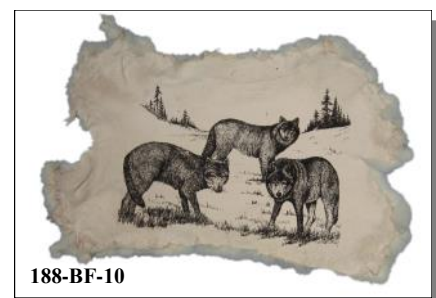

Cut-Up Grade skins are lower-quality skins that have good fur, but have major cosmetic defects. These skins can be small, misshapen, have extensive tears, holes or bald spots in the middle of the skin, or have patches of bad hair on them. They are unsuitable for resale as novelty skins, but are ideal for cutting up into smaller pieces for craft projects. These are good value for the money if you need good fur and can work around the problems. Limited supply. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

5010-11 Rabbit Plates

RABBIT PLATES: NATURAL AND DYED—FIRST QUALITY

The Spanish (and others) make rabbit plates that are used as trim on jackets, gloves, and other garments. A plate is made by trimming each rabbit skin to make a rectangle and then sewing 12 or so skins together to make a rectangular piece of material called a "plate." The Spanish plates have been averaging 45" to 46" by 23" to 24".

The plates are available in long hair and sheared. The long hair plates have 1¼" to 1½" length hair. The sheared plates have 18mm or 0.7" length hair.

The Astrakhan plates we have are dyed black and has a distinctive tight, whorled, loopy surface.

Our Spanish plates are the highest-quality rabbit plates in the world, used by the fashion industry in France and Italy and for garment production in Europe, the USA, China, South Korea, and Taiwan. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

Do you need cheaper plates?

We have traditionally stocked top-of-the-line fashion quality plates. At the request of some customers needing lower prices, we are starting to stock lower grade plates. Call for details or see our website for more information.

HARE PLATES

The hare plates measure approximately 20" to 22" wide and 40" to 45" long. Compared to regular rabbits, hare have thinner skins with more consistent coloring and longer guard hairs. They are great for low quality craft projects like Halloween costumes. We have limited stock. Once these are gone, they are gone. A U.S. Fish & Wildlife permit is required for export. Not for sale in Ontario. (Lepus capensis, wild).

The grade 4 plates are available in long hair only (not sheared). The long hair plates have 1" length hair. They range in size from 45½" to 48½" long and 22" to 24½" wide.

The grade 4 plates have weaker hair coverage than the grade 3 ones. They are ideal for lining or for use in craft projects that do not require dense hair. They are typically made from whole skins with some minor sewing of individual skins at times. The repairs are not typically visible from the hair side. These plates are not made from pieces or scrap. 5010-14 Rabbit Plates

REX RABBIT PLATES

These rex rabbit plates are smaller than the regular rabbit plates. Ideal for garment trim, these plates can be made from natural white, or they can be dyed. They measure, on average, average 45" to 47" long and 22" to 24" wide. These plates have very nice fur quality, and few, if any, imperfections. The Grade AA plates are the best, made from the biggest skins, and are the softest and silkiest. Grades A and B plates are quite nice, while Grade C plates are made from smaller skins and have more sewing on them (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

DOUBLE-FACE DYED RABBIT PLATES

140-1LDN-BK1 Fur side

140-1LDN-BK2 vs. 140-1LDN-BK1 leather sides

These are #1 grade dyed rabbit plates. These double-face plates give you two looks: the luxurious fur look on one hand, and the rugged leather look in another. The plates we have come with thicker skins on the fur side, while the Napa finish gives a soft and smooth leather side.

The style 1 plates are thin and pliable, perfect for garment making. The style 2 plates have a vinyl-like thickness to its backing, great for upholstery and sewing. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

140-1LDN-BK1 plates are a Made in Italy from Spanish rabbits
140-1LDN-BK2 plates are product of Spain

5010-15 Rabbit Skin Craft Pieces

RABBIT CRAFT PIECES

Cut and sewn in Morocco
using rabbit skins from
Spain

We also offer rabbit craft pieces that measure 5 cm by 10 cm or approximately 2" by 4". The rectangles come from first quality rabbit skins used to make plates. Using these pieces as a basic building block, we can create any size rabbit strip or rabbit plate in commercial quantities. For example, a 5 cm by 80 cm strip (2" by 32") uses 8 pieces and a 10 by 80 cm strip (4" by 32") uses 16 pieces. Various natural colors are available. For exact sizes divide the metric number by 2.54 to get inches. (Oryctolagus cuniculus, ranch).

ICELANDIC LONGHAIRD SHEEPSKINS WHITE & NATURAL COLORS LISTED BY SIZE

A NOTE ON SHEEPSKIN PRICING

The pricing in this catalog has been set for bulk/wholesale purchases. For example, if you order a number of sheepskins, we will send a nice selection. If, however, you want to pick and choose individual skins from our retail website, there is a gallery surcharge per skin to cover the cost of taking and posting the pictures, getting measurements, and processing custom requests.

Given the range of sizes and colors, not all items will be in stock at all times.

Size ranges are approximate and are for the overall length on the hair side, not the skin side. The hair will extend a few inches beyond the edges of the skin in all directions.

If you can buy 100 or more skins at a time and pay in advance, please call us for current import pricing.

We stock a range of sizes in these beautiful, all-natural colored sheepskins. The hair length is approximately 4" to 6" with the shortest hair along the spine. The long wool sheepskins make ideal rugs and furniture coverings. Native Americans use the white sheepskins for ankle dressings and the black and brown ones are used for buffalo headdresses and lion manes. The hair does not go in one direction like a dog or cat's fur, but rather falls in every direction. This is not hollow hair, so it doesn't break or shed.

Availability varies over time so please call to confirm the availability of specific sizes or colors. These skins are a by-product of the food industry. (Ovis aries, ranch)

DYED SHORN ICELANDIC SHEEPSKINS

Product of Iceland, Tanned in Poland

These Icelandic sheepskins are sheared to show off the dense underfur, making these skins remarkably soft and plush, ideal for cozying up with on a chilly day. The hair length is ~1" when lying flat, and ~2" when brushed up. (Ovis aries, ranch).

NOTE

These Icelandic sheepskins are Eco-tanned without the use of heavy metals. The exact formulation is a trade-secret but the tanning meets European Union regulations for an environmentally friendly tanning process.

HUNGARIAN LAMB SKINS

587-10

With their long, soft, fine hair and extensive softening, the Hungarian Lamb Skins are the nicest skins we have seen anywhere. (Ovis aries, ranch).

Product of Hungary

The pile on the hair is 1" long; when pulled upright the hair is 2" long. The skins have been bleached to a bright white and the hide side has been worked so it is incredibly soft. The skins measure approximately 45" long and 29" wide.

5031-1 Shearling

AUSTRALIAN SHEEPSKIN SHEARLING

The sheepskin shearling are #1 quality, full hides sold by the square foot. The hides average 7 to 10 square feet. The backs are a paler version of the wool color. Please see our website for a color chart. The ¾" white is unelectrified; this makes the hair much denser. The other skins are electrified, which makes the hair straighter.

The ¾" white shearling are either alum tanned or chrome tanned. Alum tanned skins are softer and have a parchment color back. Alum is more appropriate for garments. Chrome tanned skins have a heavier, blue back and are better for dyeing and being around water. Chrome is more appropriate for heavy-duty stuff.

We only sell full hides. Please call for pricing for orders more than 100 square feet. (Ovis aries).

A NOTE ON COLORS

We use the six-digit Pantone™ Fashion and Home color system for communicating colors between customers and the factory in China. Full reference books or color chip cards are available from Pantone at www.pantone.com.

Custom order colors must be prepaid and may take 2 to 3 months to bring in from China unless you absorb the cost of rush shipping. If you preorder and prepay, you may qualify for special import prices. No refunds on custom colors. Please call for details.

While we may supply the Doll-Hair market, please note we supply Tibet Lamb PLATES, not Hair. Please advise of any specific requirements when ordering but if you do not believe the plate will meet your needs, you must notify us upon receipt before cutting or altering in any way. Many doll customers prefer individual skins to avoid seams from sewing found in plates.

5050-2 Goat Skin Plates

CASHMERE GOAT PLATES

These are genuine cashmere goat plates. They are strong, light, and soft, with a fine texture, ideal for making warm garments, blankets, and throws. Hair length varies and there may be some weak spots. The longer cashmere wool has been pulled from these skins—leaving an uneven surface. They are approximately 24" wide by 47" long, and have 2" long hair on average. (Capra hircus).

CHINESE KIDASSIA GOATSKIN PLATES

These goatskin plates are approximately 2 feet by 4 feet—possibly a few inches shorter on each dimension.

The Kidassia style skins have long, thin hair that averages 6" in length, but can range from 4" to 8" long. These are also called Western style plates. The Kidassia plates make beautiful rugs when sewn together. (Capra hircus).

5070-1 Buffalo Hides

BUFFALO HIDES

The #1 hide shown on the left was 75" long and 80" wide at the shoulder with a 26" tail. For pictures of available hides, please visit our website at www.chichesterinc.com or call for details if interested. This hide is displayed by Fabio Borsato and Mike Gareri. All of our hides come from ranches in the U.S. and are a by-product of the food industry. The animals were not killed just for their hides. We do not offer wild buffalo. (Bison bison, ranch).

Product of the USA

The Select Grade buffalo hides are prime winter hides tanned in the United States. They have a parchment color tan on the back with silky hair on the front. The hides are soft and supple. There are no holes, hair slips (bald spots), patches, sewing, or stains. They are suitable for painting on the back. All of these come with tails. They are the best quality available anywhere.

The #1 Grade Buffalo Hides are prime winter hides that may have some minor imperfections, such as sewing on the back or minor patching. The hides are heavy, winter coats and are selected for appearance from the hair side. These are typically tanned in the USA and have a nice parchment color on the hide side.

The #2 Grade have nice, long winter hair and look fine from the hair side; however they have more patches than is normal on the hide side or some other defects (e.g., they may be slightly misshapen).

The Craft Grade Buffalo Hides often have quite a bit of fur on them and permit the making of larger craft items. The areas without fur can be used for buffalo leather. We cut up some of the craft grade hides to make Craft Grade Gallery Pieces for customers who need a sizeable piece of buffalo hide, but less than a whole hide and more than trimmings. We have also started offering what we call Project Pieces that are made using #1 hides and are cut to standardized sizes, e.g., 8" x 10", 12" x 12", 12" x 18", and 24" x 24". Call or write for current pricing or see www.naturalexotics.com

The Reject Grade Buffalo are ideal for use in tee-pees or for cutting up. The hair is typically not as long as for the Craft Grade skins and the hides often have many imperfections. The tanning on the hides is about the same as for the better grade skins. The

5080-1 Deer & Other Cervids

AXIS DEER HIDES

Axis deer have gorgeous coloring and are ideal for decoration, wall mountings, and floor displays that are not walked on. Deer have hollow hair and if you walk on them or let a large dog sit on them, the hair will break and shed over time. Note that axis deer have spots on the spine and fallow deer do not. The small are under 30", the medium are 30" to 40", the large are 40" to 50", and the extra large hides are 50" or longer from the tip of the neck to the base of the tail. These axis deer skins are alum tanned. Hides may or may not include tails.

The upholstery grade skins are in high demand for high-end furniture manufacturing (e.g. chair backings). These deer were harvested from ranches and most of the deer will be used including the meat. The skin is saved and tanned. (Axis axis, ranch).

Product of the USA

The regular hides are trading post grade and are not as nice as the upholstery grade. Axis deer are not endangered. In fact, there are so many of these, that culling operations are undertaken to keep them from becoming overpopulated and damaging the ecosystem. The animals are not killed just for their skins. Our supplier tells us that 97% of the animal is re-purposed for meat, pet food, antlers for decoration, etc. The skin is saved and tanned. (Axis axis, wild).

Silver Foxes measure about 34" from the tip of the nose to the base of the tail. (Vulpes vulpes).
Product of Canada or the USA

Blue Foxes measure about 38" from the tip of the nose to the base of the tail. (Vulpes lagopus).
Product of the USA, Canada, or Finland

In general, the foxes are cased (i.e., not split open). They usually measure about 2 to 3 feet in body length and have a tail that is about one foot long for a total of 3 to 4 feet. Please note that the measurements shown for each type of fox are based on the average size of some foxes that we had in the past and, as with any natural product, there will be variation in size within each species. Ranch-raised foxes can be significantly bigger than wild ones.

The trading post grade shadow fox skins are nice white foxes that measure about 40" from the tip of the nose to the base of the tail. (Vulpes lagopus)

BLACK BEAR SKINS

Not for sale in all states.
Requires CITES permit for export.
Product of Canada or the USA

We have a selection of heavily furred, black bear skins that have been commercially tanned. The skins have a face, but do not include the skull and are not mounted (no eyes, teeth, etc.) The skins average 4½ feet long from the nose to the tip of the tail and are about 2 feet wide. They lie flat and do not need a backing. The Craft Grade skins are soft tanned. They do not include claws. The legs and heads may have extensive damage or be missing completely. They are ideal for use in craft projects. (Ursus americanus, wild).

COYOTE SKINS

We offer coyotes in a range of qualities—from reject grade up to the best quality, large, eastern, heavy skins available. The coyotes are cased and measure 39" to 45" on average plus a 14" to 17" tail. The Best Quality skins are fashion-quality skins. The Trading Post skins are suitable for hanging on a cabin wall or for better quality craft use. The Trading Post A skins have minor face issues. The Craft Grade skins are generally good for cutting up or for use in projects that do not require a perfect skin. The Reject Grade have extensive rips, tears, and may be missing the head and tail. (Canis latrans, wild).

ERMINE SKINS

The Select ermine are good-quality soft-cased skins ranging from 10" to 16"+ in length from the tip of the nose to the tip of the tail. The #2 Grade ermine are full skins with problems, such as hair slips, small tears, yellow discoloration, etc. The Craft Grade skins have more serious problems such as more gray hair, more yellowing & more hair slips. The Gray Backs are ermine that have started to change into their summer coat and have a grayish or brownish coloring on the back. They are approximately 14" to 18" long. The Pieces are half to three-quarter skins that are missing tails, or full skins with slips or holes. None of these skins have the feet or claws attached. (Mustela erminea, wild).

FOX SKINS

In general, the foxes are cased (i.e., not split open). They usually measure about 2 to 3 feet in body length and have a tail that is about one foot long for a total of 3 to 4 feet. Please note that the measurements shown for each type of fox are based on the average size of some foxes that we had in the past and, as with any natural product, there will be variation in size within each species. Ranch-raised foxes can be significantly bigger than wild ones.

180-02-TP

Arctic Foxes measure about 29" from the tip of the nose to the base of the tail. They are usually cased. Our taxidermy quality fox skins are rare and are suitable for life-size mounts. (Vulpes lagopus, wild).

COYOTE FUR SCRAP

This scrap is a by-product of the fashion industry and does NOT contain faces and tails, which are sold separately. The scrap is all natural colors (i.e., not dyed). The small pieces can be as small as 1" by 1" and are usually not more than about six square inches. The leg and flank scrap is a mix of legs which have shorter and dense fur and of sides and flanks. The legs and flanks are usually long, thin strips. The premium scrap comes from the center of the back and has long, dense fur. This is called grutz or ridge scrap in the fashion industry. (Canis latrans, wild).

The Arctic Fox Tails are very silky and different from white shadow fox. Very few are available at any time.

The Blue Fox Tails are very full tails, but typically not as bushy as the silver or cross fox tails.

The Silver Fox has a very big and bushy tail—about the biggest fox tail you can get.

Cross Foxes are a cross between a Silver and a Red Fox and tend to be quite bushy.

Fox tails from ranch-raised foxes tend to be bigger and much nicer than those from wild animals.

MINK TAILS ON TASSEL CLASPS

We use top-of-the-line jumbo white male mink tails from this season's fashion quality mink to make a gorgeous accessory to hang from your purse, bag, belt, or hat. Each tail is unique. You will get one similar to the tails shown in the pictures. Assembled in New York by our team. This item is in very limited supply at the moment--we have fewer than 100 tails available in this size and quality. The snap clasp comes in your choice of chrome, gold color, or antiqued brass. The mink tails generally measure between 7" and 9" long. The clasps are 2.5" in size (Neovision vison, ranch).

5190-1 Animal Bacula

ASSORTED BACULA

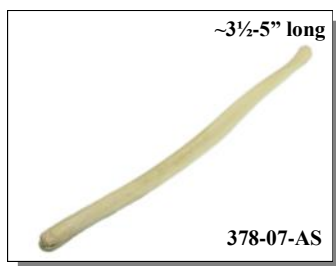

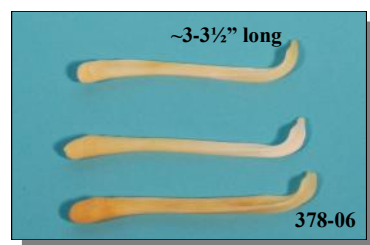

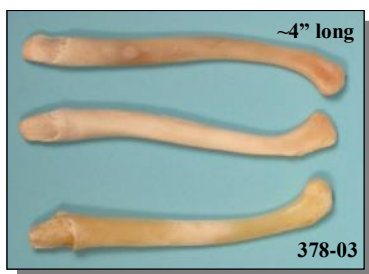

Baculum is the Latin word for stick or staff. Bacula (the plural of baculum) are the bones in most mammals that stiffen the male's member on a full-time basis. They are often treated as fertility symbols or good luck charms.

These bacula are professionally cleaned. They make great earrings, martini sticks, or tooth picks when sharpened for your favorite lawyer or Mountain Man or Woman.

The small raccoon bacula are 2" to 4" long. The large raccoon bacula are 4" to 4 1/2" long. The black raccoon bacula are dyed pitch black in our warehouse using India ink.

All the bacula are measured with a straight ruler from tip to tip.

RED EAR HATCHLING TURTLE SHELLS

We get a limited number of red ear hatchling shells. They measure 3/4" to 1 1/4" in length. Not for sale in Indiana. (Trachemys s. elegans, ranch).

Limited availability.

Product of the USA

227-0101

Product of the USA

We are frequently asked where the turtle shells come from and how they are obtained. Our hatchling shells come from turtle farms. The other turtle shells come from either ranch or wild turtles. Most of the smaller shells, from hatchling up to 6" to 7" long, come from turtle farms where the turtles have died from natural causes at the farm. The farm saves them for the woman who cleans them for us and then we sell them. Most of the larger turtle shells come from turtles that are typically trapped in the wild with their meat sold as a delicacy. The turtles were not killed just for their shells. The ranch turtle shells are very clean compared to the wild turtle shells. We will send an assortment of shells unless you specify you want only ranch or wild shells.

HORSE HAIR PROCESSING

The horse tail hair has been scoured, washed, and sterilized. After the horse hair is cut, it is washed with soap and water containing 2.5% sodium carbonate in a washing machine for three hours. It is then left in a 5% solution of warm sodium carbonate for half an hour and then washed again for another hour. The tails were then boiled in water at 100°C for over 2 hours. They were dried and combed before being bundled together.

DYED HORSE HAIR

Please note that dye lots may vary so the color may not be consistently the same. Do not get the hair wet. It is not color-fast.

We offer 7 dyed colors of double-drawn (i.e., straight cut at both ends) dyed horse tail hair. Each bundle weighs approximately one pound except for some 10" to 12" bundles which weigh approximately 1/2 pound. We also offer dyed red 10" to 12" long horse tail hair in 1-ounce bundles.

Horse tail hair can be used for violin bow hair, brush fiber, rocking horse tails, live horse tail extension, wigs, horse hair weave, and jewellery. Horse tail hair is harder or coarser than the mane hair. (Equus caballus, ranch).

AFRICAN PORCUPINE QUILLS

The #1 or A-grade quills are nice and thick and sold by length. The tips are good and the quills do not have any significant damage. The ultra thin quills are thinner than the regular quills, but thicker than the porcupine hair. They come in assorted sizes. The white quills are completely white or have a bit of black. If you need specific sizes in ultra thin quills or white ones, let us know and we will see if we can sort them for you. The B-grade quills may be bent, flattened, have broken ends, or otherwise flawed. They tend to have a stubby end instead of a sharp point, may have a more muted brown and white coloring instead of crisp black and white, and are often not as clean as the A-grade or #1 quills. This grade is what most other firms sell as A-grades. They are sorted into thick and thin quills. They are ideal for cutting into small pieces or for use as is. (Hystrix africaeaustralis, wild).

5270-1 African Abalone Shells

CLEANED & EDGED AFRICAN ABALONE SHELLS

220-10-13B

The cleaned and edged African Abalone Shells have been cleaned and polished on the inside. A diamond-tip grinder has been used to remove the rough edges. The outside is clean, but rough. We like these better than the Mexican abalone shells and believe that you will too. They are measured lengthwise.

If you are interested in large quantities, please call for a quote. Orders for US$5,000 ex-works or more can be shipped directly from our associate's factory in South Africa.

These shells are a by-product of the food industry. The abalone were not killed just for their shells. (Haliotis midae, ranch).

5270-3 Quahog and Mussel Shells

QUAHOG SHELLS

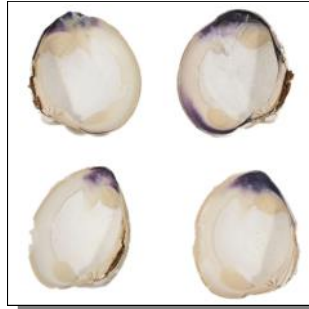

These wild Quahog Shells are sold in lots of 100 shells as we get them in from our shell supplier. These are only available when new shipments arrive and are offered in lots of 100 shells or more to avoid disappointment in the randomness of smaller size orders. When we get in a large shipment, we fill existing large orders and then grade the remaining stock. The assorted shells are not sorted in any way, therefore, the size and degree of purple on a shell can vary significantly and they may also have minor edge chips. They are approximately 4" to 4½" long and 3" to 3½" wide. The shells have been shucked and cleaned in cold water. (Mercenaria mercenaria, wild).

These wild Quahog Shells are sold by the half shell; they do not come in pairs. They are approximately 4" to 4½" long and 3" to 3½" wide. The shells have been shucked and cleaned in cold water.

The select quahog shells are excellent shells with extensive purple that are highly sought after. There may be minor chips, but not significant chips or cracks. These are the top 5% to 10%. We do not upgrade from first quality to select if we run out of first quality.

The vast majority of shells are #1 or first quality. They are good shells with varying levels of purple typically on one side. There may be minor chips, but no major chips or cracks.

The #2 or second quality are full shells with just a touch of purple and/or minor chips.

The #3 or third quality quahogs are full shells, with either no purple or more significant chips, lines, or other cosmetic problems. They can have varying degrees of purple or no purple. The majority of these tend to be good quahogs, just missing the purple edges. (Mercenaria mercenaria, wild).

TUMBLED PAUA SHELL PIECES

The tumbled paua shell pieces are sold in 1/4-pound bags. Some pieces will be very nicely tumbled and polished. Some will have rougher edges. Some quantity will have chips or be broken. We are not selling the pieces as flawless, individually packaged pieces.

There are many uses for the tumbled pieces. They are great for inlay work. They can be put in the bottom of an aquarium or fountain for decoration. They can be used for jewelry.

Paua is the species of abalone shell found only in the cold waters of southern New Zealand. The coloring varies from shell to shell and has an amazing iridescence. The pieces vary in size and shape and come from shells that have been tumbled to a natural, satin, or high gloss finish. Natural finish pieces are tumbled without the polished (satin) finish and have a more rustic look. Satin finish pieces are tumbled to a polished finish. They are good quality shell pieces that tend to be thicker than the gloss finish shells. They are processed with cream and corn grit. Gloss drilled pieces are tumbled to a high gloss finish and each piece is drilled with a small hole at the top. They are processed using hydrochloric acid and the pieces tend to be flatter and thinner than the satin finish pieces. (Haliotis iris, wild).

TUMBLED BLACK LIP MOTHER OF PEARL SHELL PIECES

The tumbled black lip mother of pearl shell pieces are sold in 1/4-pound bags. Satin finish pieces are tumbled to a polished finish. They are good quality shell pieces that tend to be thicker than the gloss finish shells. They are processed with cream and corn grit. Some pieces will be very nicely tumbled and polished. Some will have rougher edges. Some quantity will have chips or be broken. We are not selling the pieces as flawless, individually packaged pieces. There are many uses for the tumbled pieces. They are great for inlay work. They can be put in the bottom of an aquarium or fountain for decoration. They can be used for jewelry. (Pinctada margaritifera, wild).

WHOLE MOOSE ANTLER SHEDS

Our moose antlers are all natural drops or sheds from live moose in Maine or Quebec. The animals were not killed to harvest the antler—moose shed every year. The antlers were picked up in the forest. The antler is sold by the pound and you will be charged for the exact weight. Small pieces weigh 1 to 4 pounds, medium ones weigh 5 to 7 pounds and large ones weigh 8 to 12 pounds. Let us know what you are looking for and we will do our best to select appropriate pieces. The #1 antler is fresh, hard brown antler. The #2/#3 antler is older antler that may have some chewing, more weathering, or other imperfections. (Alces alces, wild).

SORTING AND MATCHING HORNS

We frequently get requests to sort antler and horns into matching pairs. Most of these horns come to us loose (not matched). We will do our best to select closely matched antlers and horns if you wish. We charge for labor to cover the cost of sorting to find matching sets.

ARE YAK ENDANGERED?

Yak in the wild are highly protected. They are listed as CITES I animals—the most protected category that does not allow for any commercial trade. Wild yak are very rare. The species has been domesticated and is not protected if there is proof that the animal was raised on a ranch and not in the wild. The same thing applies for ostrich. They are rare in the wild, but are common on farms and ranches. We only sell products from domesticated yak or ostriches.

TERMS & CONDITIONS 1/2

Please take a few minutes to review the following terms and conditions under which we do business. Do not hesitate to call us at 1.800.206.6544 or send an e-mail to info@chichesterinc.com if you have any questions or if we can be of service.

Payment

- 1) We accept major credit cards (Visa, MasterCard, American Express, and Discover), cash, PayPal, money orders, some business checks, prepayment by personal check (orders will be held until check clears) and wire payments. Credit cards are our preferred means of settlement.
- 2) Net 30 terms only to select institutions, museums, and corporations only with proper identification.
- 3) Interest will be charged to overdue accounts at the rate of 2% per month. Late accounts may be denied future credit terms.
- 4) No merchandise will be shipped to overdue accounts until payment in full is received.
- 5) A US$52.50 administrative fee will be charged for all bounced checks. If your bounced check causes us to bounce checks, you will be held liable for any NSF charges incurred.
- 6) We can hold orders for seven (7) business days should you wish to send a money order, we can call you with the total. If you do not send the payment as promised, we will not offer this service to you again.
- 7) Because of the high cost of handling COD shipments, we will only ship on a COD money order basis to approved customers. We ship promptly and will inform you of the COD amount so you can have a U.S. postal money order or Wal-Mart money order ready. COD by UPS only with a COD fee of US$26.25 per box.

Pricing

All merchandise is priced in U.S. dollars. All prices are subject to change without notice. Price changes will be confirmed before shipping.

Minimum Order

The minimum wholesale order is US$175.00 not including shipping.

Minimum order is US$250.00 for Canadian orders and US$500.00 for other international orders.

Shipping

- 1) We rely on UPS ground service. If you have special shipping requirements, please let us know.
- 2) All shipping charges are to the account of the buyer.
- 3) No expedited service to new customers.

Shipping by UPS

Regular UPS ground service is cheap and relatively fast--usually 1-6 business days anywhere in the continental U.S.

If you require express service, please keep in mind that using UPS 3-Day Select generally doubles the cost of shipping and using Next-Day Air doubles it again. For express shipments you pay for either weight OR volume. Express service is expensive! We usually alert customers to this fact of life, but many people often underestimate what it will cost for express service. To send a box of 100 rabbit skins (about 15 pounds) to California costs only $15.00 or $20.00 by ground service, but may cost $90.00 by next-day air. If in doubt, please ask for a quote before having us send you something by express service and then charge you four to five times what you believe is "reasonable."

Shipping by U.S. Mail

We can send parcels by U.S. mail if you wish. We enter in the pick-up data by computer the day the order is packed and invoiced.

It is picked up the next day by the post office. Normally, delivery time is 2 to 3 days anywhere in the U.S. We will insure the goods, but cannot be held accountable if the U.S. Post Office takes a month to deliver your parcel.

There is a US$78.75 rush fee if you want us to take the parcel to the post office for immediate shipment the same day.

We will charge an additional drop off fee if you would like us to make a special run to the UPS or USPS shipping depot. The drop off fee is US$105.00 in Antwerp, New York.

Insurance

All shipments are insured at the buyer's expense unless prepaid in full and an insurance waiver is signed. Our packers have an excellent record in guarding against damage, but damage can occur and truck drivers have accidents. In the event of an insurance claim, UPS requires you to keep the original carton. Put all damaged items as well as packing materials back into the original carton it was received in and hold for UPS. E-mail or call us within 5 days so UPS can examine or pick up the carton.

Back Orders

Back orders are open, active orders for a period of six months and will be filled as soon as goods become available at the current price. We will notify you if there has been a price change. If you do not want this service, it is your responsibility to cancel back orders. Returned back orders are subject to the 15% restocking fee. Shipping charges for back orders are to the buyer's account.

If you specify a credit card for payment and there is a back order, we will use the same card to process the back order unless you tell us differently. We will send a copy of the invoice along with your order. If you require a phone call with the total, please let us know at the time of ordering.

Business Hours

There is usually a staff member around to answer the telephones from 9:30 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. eastern time from Monday to Friday. If we are all on the phone or unable to answer, please leave a message: we return calls as soon as possible. Occasionally, the phones will be answered in the evenings and on weekends, but no coverage is guaranteed. E-mail is checked regularly during the day on business days and occasionally on the weekend.

Most of our warehouse is configured for storage and shipping, and is not designed for browsing or shopping. If you wish to meet with our staff, please call to make an appointment so you will not be disappointed.

The main administrative office is located in Toronto. This office is closed during both major Canadian and U.S. holidays.

Return Policy & Restocking Fee

Rest assured that you may return any item that you buy from us if you are not 100% satisfied at the time of receipt. Please call or e-mail us within five (5) days of receipt to let us know that there is a problem and return the merchandise promptly, no more than 30 days after our ship date. Upon receipt of the returned merchandise in its original condition, we will issue a refund for the value of merchandise less a 15% restocking fee. We do not issue a refund for shipping costs. You are responsible for shipping and insurance costs both ways. We have had customers request that we ship something by next-day air and then want to return the item and get a full refund on the value of the goods and shipping. Sorry, but we do not think this is reasonable. If you are in a rush, please keep in mind that you will be paying the cost of expedited shipping. We encourage you to ask questions and buy small quantities first to ensure that you are getting what you want.

We do not offer merchandise on a consignment or trial basis. No returns will be accepted after our guarantee period. All returns must be approved in advance and have a return authorization number similar to RA100304MS, where RA is for return authorization, the date in yymmdd format and the initials of the person you spoke with. This number must be on the outside of the box for the warehouse staff to accept the shipment.

We have very few returns. We do our best to describe items accurately, ship quality merchandise, and encourage customers to ask questions about our products prior to shipping. If in doubt, please ask. If you have any questions or concerns, please send us an e-mail at info@chichesterinc.com or call us at 1.800.206.6544.

Claims and Disputes

Our goal is to deal with any problems that arise as quickly as possible (i.e., less than 30 days). If we owe you money for some reason, we will either send a check or credit your credit card promptly. If there is a problem or we have overlooked something (deleted e-mail, misplaced message, etc.), it is your responsibility to stay in touch with us to resolve the matter as soon as possible--not almost a year later. Please help us resolve claims or disputes quickly. It's better for both of us.

New York State Sales Tax

All shipments to New York addresses will be subject to New York State sales tax on both the value of the goods and freight unless a tax exemption certificate is on file prior to shipping.

Wildlife

All wildlife products are offered for sale with the condition that if special permits are required to make the sale legal, these permits will be obtained prior to shipping the wildlife product (e.g., grizzly bear, cougar, or wolf products shipped from New York, export permits from the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service for overseas shipments, or CITES permits for goods subject to CITES).

All wildlife products are shipped with the understanding that it is the buyer's responsibility to ensure that he or she may legally possess and/or re-sell the purchased wildlife products (e.g., furs, hides, skins, claws, teeth, etc.) in his or her jurisdiction. Any fines, fees, legal fees, penalties, loss of business, and/or court costs, etc. incurred on the part of Chichester, Inc. for illegal shipments will be to the account of the buyer. We will not knowingly ship illegal products. Each state, however, has its own laws. There is no way we can keep track of all of these changing laws. If you are uncertain about the legality of owning a specific wildlife product, check with your state, provincial, or national officials before ordering.

All wildlife products are shipped on an ex-works basis. The final sale occurs at our loading dock in Antwerp, New York. We engage UPS, FedEx, the United States Postal System, or any other carrier on your behalf to transport products purchased at our warehouse for final delivery to your destination.

International Orders

We will charge a US$39.50 international admin fee on all exports. This fee is for filing the paperwork for the export declaration and taking the parcel to the post office. We will also charge a US$2.65 fee for each additional line item on the export declaration.

We charge a US$26.25 fee for a USMCA/CUSMA Certificate of Origin.

The following are optional documents should you wish us to include them with your shipment. These are not required documents but it is in your best interest to have them.

Fumigation Certificate - US$5.25 fee

Non-Endangered (No-CITES) Certificate - US$5.25 fee

All shipments to addresses outside of the United States are subject to a US$294.00 surcharge for items containing North American fish and wildlife products (e.g., deerskin, beaver skins, etc.) or a US$363.00 surcharge for items containing fish and wildlife products from outside of North America (e.g., cowrie shells, reindeer skins, etc.). The surcharge covers the cost of completing additional paperwork, obtaining an export license, and having the shipment inspected. This fee must be paid prior to our completing the paperwork and is non-refundable. Please call or e-mail for further information or visit our website at <http://www.chichesterinc.com/InternationalOrderingInformation.htm>

Suitability for Children

Many items in this catalog are not recommended for children under 13 years of age. None of our items are suitable for infants or toddlers.

Country of Origin and Authenticity

We sell a variety of Native American-made products, products made by non-Natives, and imported products. In order to ensure compliance with the laws concerning product markings and Native authenticity, it is important to leave the country of origin and authenticity tags on all products.

Native American Products

In this catalog, Native American, Native, and Indian are used interchangeably. If you have any questions about the authenticity or Native American origin of any of our products, please do not hesitate to call us at 1.800.206.6544. Ask to speak with Paul Crosby. To ensure accuracy and because of possible legal ramifications, Paul is the only person in the company authorized to make formal statements concerning the authenticity of any products. We try to indicate as clearly as possible in our literature and on our website which products are Native made and which ones are not.

We are strong supporters of legislation designed to stop the misrepresentation of imported or non-Native merchandise being sold as though it were Native made. We also work closely with many Native American artists and craftsmen and want to ensure that there will always be a market for their work.

Legal Jurisdiction

In the unlikely event of any legal proceedings, all parties agree that the jurisdiction shall be Antwerp, New York, USA.

Privacy Policy

We cherish our own privacy and respect yours. We will neither sell nor give your e-mail address, phone number, or other contact information to anyone else.

Final Note

We value your business and look forward to serving you. These terms and conditions are designed to help avoid any misunderstandings between us and to facilitate a good business relationship. Thank you.

CPSIA LEAD POLICY AND RECALL POLICY

CPSIA Lead Policy

Please take a few minutes to review our policy dealing with the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act (CPSIA) concerning the sale of products to children 12 and under.

We deal in thousands of products. Some of these are purchased by children 12 and under or purchased by adults as gifts for this age group. In the case where this is clearly the target market, we have a testing program in place to ensure that the products we offer do not exceed government mandated lead levels. Given the changing nature of our inventory, please see our website at the link:

<http://www.chichesterinc.com/LeadPolicy.htm>

for a list of individual products and their testing status.

We cannot offer a blanket guarantee that all of our products have been adequately tested given that many of these items are not intended for use by children 12 and under. Because of the high cost of testing, we will only be testing the limited number of items where children are the intended market and testing is required.

If you are planning to offer our products to children 12 and under, please refer to our website prior to ordering.

For more information on the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act, please see the government's website at

<http://www.cpsc.gov/ABOUT/Cpsia/cpsia.HTML>

We also encourage you to complain loudly and frequently to your congressmen and senators about the effects their heavy handed legislation is having on the small crafts markets in the United States. Policies directed at large-scale importers are having disastrous effects on small manufacturers and importers—at the same time they allow firms such as Mattel and Wal-Mart to do their own overseas testing.

If you have any questions about our lead testing efforts or policies, please ask to speak with Paul Crosby at 1.800.206.6544. Given the legal implications involved, Paul is the only person in the company authorized to make formal statements on our testing program.

Recall Policy

We maintain records of all shipments by customer and by product order code for all shipments from our warehouse. In the unlikely event of a recall of any of our products, we will contact you at the address to which the product was shipped.

If you have any questions about our recall policies, please ask to speak with Paul Crosby at 1.800.206.6544. Given the legal implications involved, Paul is the only person in the company authorized to make formal statements on our recall policy.

Chichester was started in 1992 as a part-time hobby business exporting Native American arts and crafts from Canada to the United States. During the past 32 years, we have grown into a distributor of Native American arts and crafts, museum and gift shop merchandise, furs, hides, skins, antler, horn, craft supplies, and natural products. Our customers include museums, gift shops, theme parks, trading posts, catalog retailers, opera companies, movie producers, set designers, costume designers, manufacturers, and craftspeople around the world.

As we celebrate our 32nd anniversary in business, we would like to thank all of our suppliers who have provided us with quality merchandise and good service and our customers who have made our growth possible. We hope to be able to serve both groups equally well in the coming years.

We are constantly adding new products. Please check our website for new items that did not make it into this catalog.
